A good deal of interest is being aroused in the coming wrestling match between Jack Grace and Harry Cummings of Springfield, Mass. Grace's skill is well known. Cummings is a pupil of James Barnes, the light heavyweight champion of the world, and one of the cleverest wrestlers at the sport to-day.

Cummings has won some hard matches and is no novice. A good crowd will probably get their money's worth at the match in the opera house next Friday night.

Patriotism is the theme on which the picture, "The Bugle Call" is based. Dreamland was fortunate in securing this picture to-day, for it is in demand all over the country. It is a war drama of intense interest, with many vivid scenes, so real that one almost holds his breath to hear the guns go off and hear the sweet call of the bugle. Of course, there is a pretty love story woven in for spice, and to please the girls. This is not the only good film, for there are two others and an excellent song.

That all were pleased with the vaudeville and pictures at the pavilion last night is beyond question. The pictures consisted of two Biograph issues and one Selig—they were of the pleasing kind. The vaudeville consisted of Prof. Litz and his twelve trained dogs. They were excellent, unlike many dog acts, the dogs seemed anxious to please the audience and all seemed to wear a smile, that is, if dogs can smile. We are informed that they will be a complete change of program to-morrow. Let's all hope that the new program will be as good as the present one.

Editor Times:—I wish to beg the pardon of the manager of the Granville Independent for interrupting, but we being a good sport will not question my right to make a statement in regard to the outcome of the game Monday night. For the same reason he will realize at second thought that the rules require either seven or nine innings for a game; as this one was called in the eighth, as all spectators can testify, we naturally refer to the seventh for the result, which was five to six in favor of Williamstown.
